THE LION GROWLS.

At President Harrison's Last Request for a Modus Vivendi, Pending Arbitration in Behring Sea.

LONDON, March 24. It is stated today on excellent authority, that Rear Admiral Hotham, of the Pacific squadron, has received instructions to protect the Canadian sealers in the event that an arrangement cannot be arrived at with the United States. Lord Salisbury was at first inclined not to take this step, and simply to leave the matter alone, letting the Canadians take their chances of escape from the American revenue cutters, and of litigations in the American courts.

To this Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian high commissioner, is said to have strenuously objected. He pointed out that such a course would be a marked and dishonorable contrast to the strong policy which has marked Lord Salisbury's government in other regions of the world and that a failure to protect British subjects in occupation, asserted by Great Britain to be lawful, would be a virtual abandonment of all claim to Canadian loyalty. Sir Charles, it is stated by an eminent Canadian who is supposed to be thoroughly in his confidence, desired it to be understood that Canada did not ask for, but demanded the protection of England and that nothing less than complete protection would be satisfactory to her people.

Should the sealing issue result in war, the Canadians would be prepared to do their part and prove their loyalty on land, but they must look to England for defense at sea. Sir Charles is said to have urged that England could afford a quarrel on this question with the United States, as it was a question regarding which the whole world would be on the English side as against the claimant to a monopoly of animals roaming the high seas.

He also argued that there would be no public sentiment in the United States behind President Harrison and his cabinet in raising the issue; that it was really a scheme on the part of a few very wealthy men, some of them holding high position, to stir up an anti-British feeling in order to sustain them in a monopoly from which they had already accumulated millions and that he, Sir Charles, had reliable assurances through inquiries in different parts of the United States that there was no general house sentiment behind the few men who were urging President Harrison.

The American people, said Sir Charles, had no sympathy with monopolies in Alaska, or any where else, and when the whole hideous history of the Alaska monopoly was laid bare, as it would inevitably would be if the quarrel was pushed much farther, the American people would be astounded and would demand that the monopoly should be swept out of existence, and that no part of the territory of the United States should be controlled by a chartered company.

It is said that Sir Charles has convinced the premier that in upholding the right to catch seals in the open sea, he will have, not only the unanimous and loyal support of Canada, but also the sympathy of a majority of American people and that the real cause of the warlike utterances at Washington is the influence in Washington councils of the representatives of the fur seal monopoly.

Advices have been received to the effect that the Warspite, the flagship of Rear Admiral Hotham, is now on its way to North Pacific waters, and that a strong fleet will be marshalled at Esquimault to be ready for any hostile demonstration on the part of the United States.

A PAIR OF THEM.

Two Divorce Suits, One at London, the Other in Illinois.

LONDON, March 24.—In the probate divorce and admiralty division today, the case of Wood vs. Parnell, formerly Wood vs. O'Shea, came up before the president, Sir Charles Parker Butt, and a special jury. The court room was thronged with people anxious to listen to the expected developments.

ROCKFORD, Ill., March 24 —A sensation was created here yesterday by the institution of divorce proceedings, by James H. Patterson against his wife, who is prominent in W. C. T. U. circles and county superintendent of the jail work.

DID HE DO IT?

Senator Hill Says "Czar" Reed Stole His Rulings on Quorums.

COLUMBIA, S. C. March 24—While passing through South Carolina last Saturday Senator Hill was entertained by the editor of the Winsboro News. Speaking of Speaker Reed's ruling in the Fifty-first congress the senator said he had never taken any stock in the democratic criticism of Mr. Reid's method of counting a quorum "In fact," said he, Mr. Reed stole that ruling bodily from me. I ruled the same way against the representatives when I was president of the New York senate" Senator Hill said that he might have used this as capital for himself, but he saw that the democratic party was being benefited by pitching into Reed's position, and he did not say anything about its having been stolen.

THE OYSTER DID IT!

A Furious and Deadly Battle Between Oystermen in the Chesapeake Bay.

TASLEY, Va., March 24 —A furious battle occurred Tuesday afternoon between the oystermen in Chesapeake bay Several years ago some persons residing in Acromack county took up a large tract of oyster ground in Pokome sound. The oystermen in the neighboring island of Tangie claimed the planters had violated the law by taking up a natural oyster lock. The court decided against the planters who, under an act passed by the Virginia legislature last winter, proceeded to take up the oysters from the reservation This greatly enraged the islanders, who determined to prevent it at all hazards. Early Tuesday morning they manned two sloops with a force numbering about seventy-five men, and proceeded to where the dredgers were operating They found twelve schooners at work and close by was one of the Virginia oyster police boats to protect the dredgers. The commander of the state police board ordered the islanders to keep off, and when they disregarded his orders he opened fire on them with his cannon. The islanders were armed with rifles and soon the firing became general. The dredgers came on deck and fired volley after volley into the islanders who finally withdrew from the unequal contest. In the engagement Captain Thos. Dies, of Pungateatgue, Va., who commanded one of the dredging boats was killed, and several of the islanders received slight wounds. The fight took place in full view of the Tangier islands, and while it was going on the entire population of the island watched its progress. Many of the women fainted and the children ran screaming along the shore Great excitement prevailed on the island all night Tuesday and scarcely any of the inhabitants went to bed The dredgers and the islanders are both greatly incensed against each other and it is feared that hostilities will break out afresh.

PRUSSIAN CABINET SOLID.

Chancellor Caprivi Retains a Subordinate Position.

BERLIN, March 24.—The Prussian cabinet is now substantially readjusted. Count Von Eulenburg has accepted the post of Prussian premier, and Dr. Bosse, secretary of the state office of justice of the empire, has been appointed minister of public instruction and medical and ecclesiastical affairs Chancellor Caprivi retains the office of Prussian foreign minister together with that of chancellor of the empire, so that he will be in the peculiar position of chancellor with supreme direction, under the kaiser, of imperial affairs, while at the same time the subordinate in the Prussian ministry of Count Eulenburg It is not believed that Caprivi will retain even the chancellorship any longer than he thinks necessary in view of the condition of the kasiers health, and that his tenure of that office will end within a few months The kaiser has written an autograph letter to Count Zedlitz, the retiring minister of public instructions, couched in much gracious language expressing deep regret for the loss of his services, and adding the hope that he will always place those services at the disposal of the country.

A PLUCKY OPERATOR

Prevents Four Burglars From Capturing His Office.

PLAINFIELD, N J., March 24.—The night operator on the Jersey Central railroad at Fanwood, successfully resisted the attempt of four burglars to rob the depot on Tuesday night. The four men tried to break down the door of the ticket office, in which the operator was, and he telegraphed for assistance. There was a chain fastening to the door, which allowed of the door opening a trifle. The operator caught two of the intruders off of their guard and knocked them senseless with a club. Then he sprang into the other room and tackled the other two. He was getting the worst of it, when the noise of an approaching hand car was heard and the would-be burglars abandoned the fight and took to their heels, dragging their half stupefied, but reviving, comrades with them. By the time the five railroad men on a hand car had arrived on the scene the robbers had disappeared in the woods.

BEHRING SEA TREATY.

The Senate Committee Will Recommend That It Be Ratified—The Day in Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The senate committee on foreign relations today further considered the Behring sea arbitration treaty. It was understood, although it cannot be definitely stated, inasmuch as the members of the committee preserve secrecy, that they will report the treaty to the senate with a recommendation that it be ratified.

The senate today discussed the ventilation of the senate chamber and resolution inquiring into the number of leased buildings occupied by the government was discussed and referred. Mr. Wolcott's resolution of inquiry as to what persons were being carried on department pay rolls outside the civil service list, which was laid over from yesterday, was adopted. At 10.50, on motion of Mr. Sherman, the senate again went into secret session on the Behring Sea matter.

Interest in the silver question is unabated and large crowds still attend the sessions of the house.

Prior to the debate bills were favorably reported as follows For public buildings at Salem, Oregon, Oakland, Cala, and Fon du Lac, Wis.; to establish a division line between the land of the United States and that of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago company; to aid the state of Colorado to support a school of mines.

Mr. Bland, of Missouri, said that in order to allow more time for debate, he would move the previous question at 5 o'clock. Mr. Williams, democrat, of Illinois, was the first speaker in favor of the bill.

After the senate went into executive session today the matter of the leakage of executive session proceedings was again brought up and much earnestness was shown in the remarks made by senators who depreciated the publication of alleged incorrect and misleading reports. It was finally determined to exclude from the chamber all the employes of the senate including those who have charge of the records of the executive sessions. Even the venerable assistant doorkeeper, Isaac Bassett, who has been in the senate, boy and a man for nearly seventy years was not spared. General P. McCook, secretary, is the only officer who remains in the chamber.

HOLMAN'S HOPE.

The Plan of His Managers Is to Nominate Him for Congress, Then for Governor and Then for President.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind, March 24 —The managers of Congressman W S Holman's political destinies claim that he is on a clear road to the nomination for the presidency The plan is to nominate Holman for congress on April 12th, and later present his name to the state convention for governor, and if he should get that nomination let him decline it and permit the central committee to fill the vacancy. This boom will bring Holman prominently before the people and in case the nomination for president comes west, Holman will claim the prestige and his friends will urge his nomination. The delegation from Indiana will be for Isaac P. Gray but Holman's friends claim that his popularity outside the state will force Indiana to support him after it becomes evident that he stands a show of getting the nomination.

Judge Holman, as he is commonly called, was born in Indiana, in 1822. He had two years at college before he became a school teacher. In his leisure he prepared for the bar

After having held several local offices, in 1851 he sat as a member of the legislature of Indiana. From 1852 to 1856 he was a judge of the court of common pleas. The "Poor Richard" of the house of representatives commands great influence in its deliberations. The long war he has made of wasteful expenditure has made his name synonymous with economy in state affairs

THAT SUGAR COMBINE

Is a Sure Go—Spreckels Will Fall in Line Today.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—The sugar refining plant of Harrison, Frazier & Co., was formally transferred to the American Sugar Refining company yesterday the consideration being $10,000,000, one-tenth of which was paid in cash, and the remainder on exchange of sugar trust certificates for Harrison, Frazier & Co. stock The announcement did not create much surprise in local sugar circles, as it had been predicted for several days. The only effect that it had was that of raising the price of sugar trust stock on the several exchanges of the American sugar refinery, and it is probable that today Claus Spreckels will turn over his refinery. Such is the impression prevailing among sugar brokers, who have been following the workings of the sugar trust among the Philadelphia refineries of late. In consequence of the trust having absorbed the Franklin refinery the McCahan sugar refining company, which was incorporated last year with a capital of $3,000,000, has increased it to $5,000,000, and has decided to begin building a plant at once.

FEEBLE MINDED YOUTH.

The Daily News Pleads for an Increased Appropriation for Our State Institution.

Last evenings's Daily News, of this city, had the following editorial concerning legislative candidates and the School for Feeble Minded Youth in this city

"Allen county owes a duty to itself in the coming election that should not be forgotten or overlooked in the scramble for office. No man should be sent to the legislature from this county who is not pledged to use his best efforts in securing for the State Institution for Feeble Minded Youth an appropriation of at least $200,000 for additional buildings. The present plant affords accommodations for about 500 people. There are 400 children already within the walls of the local institution, and, in addition to the attendants, not many more can be cared for until additional buildings are erected. There are in the state of Indiana nearly 6,000 feeble minded people, and the number is constantly increasing. To care for these unfortunates the state has begun a grand and commendable work. But the institution here is inadequate to meet the needs of more than 10 per cent. of this multitude of afflicted ones That an immediate extension of the work is demanded by pressing exigencies needs no argument It follows from the figures above quoted Over two thousand imbecile children in Indiana are without such surroundings as their condition requires. The civilization of the age demands that the state shall do its duty by all its unfortunate subjects. The insane are infinitely better provided for. Between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 have already been spent by this state for the housing of the insane, whose numbers aggregate only about one-half as many as constitute the list of feeble minded. It is evident, therefore, that the work in this direction must at once be extended, and it goes without saying that the most economical use of the public money that can be made, is in the line of increasing accommodations where the plant is already established. The expenditure of $200,000 in connection with the state institute at Fort Wayne, will be of greater service than the use of double the amount of money to establish a new asylum elsewhere. Hence, the duty of every citizen of Allen county, and especially of our legislators, to employ their best efforts in the direction of securing this much needed appropriation."

THEIR GOOD FAITH.

Swindler William Faupel Made Several Hundred Dollars Out of It.

A man named William Faupel came to Lima, Ohio, several weeks ago and advertised for railroad employes to go to Montana. He advertised in that and adjacent seats, visited men personally and succeeded in raking in a hundred or so victims. The men were promised wages ranging from $2 to $4 per day. The railroad fare was to be paid by the firm Faupel represented and deducted from their first month's pay.

Each man engaged, however, was to advance $2.50 as a guarantee of good faith, this to be returned with their first pay The time for starting away on the trip was last night, and late yesterday afternoon the men who had hired themselves commenced to show up in town, and when the time came for their departure last night they commenced to inquire for Faupel. William, however, was not be found for he had silently stolen out of town $400 or $500 ahead.

Carnahan, on Clinton street, and got away with a small quantity of goods He succeeded in evading the officers until recently and was arrested only after he had given them a good deal of trouble He has acted very obstinate and has frequently asserted that the officer wasn't living who could take him to Michigan City At this writing, however, the young man is wearing bracelets and is a passenger against his will on a train that is rapidly bearing him to the northern prison, where he will stay two years, unless some unforseen cause arises to prevent Thompson was arraigned yesterday and pleaded not guilty The jury went out last evening and were not long in finding a verdict of guilty and fixing his punishment at two years in the penitentiary. She's gone her holy spirit has fled,
And now she's numbered with the dead
Of holy love and quenchless fame.
The honored one's of holy name
Her life was one of purity
And of Catholic sincerity—
Her only wish and fond desire
To serve the Lord with quenchless fire
That brightly burns to prove our love
For Jesus Christ in heaven above.
Aurelia, thy name is dear
To hold aloft to those that fear
The path to tread where leads to love
And presence of our Lord above.

Next Sunday will occur the ninth anniversary of the marriage of J B Olinger and wife, which they will celebrate in a quiet manner by entertaining a few friends at dinner at their pleasant home on New Haven avenue, near the east yards H. C. Olinger and wife, of Garrett, are expected to be present.

James Campbell and daughter, Mrs. Barbara Davis, of Maysville, have returned home from a short visit to Mr. and Mrs Sam Gyre, of New Haven avenue. Mrs. Davis is a sister of Mrs. Gyre and this is the first meeting of the two for fifteen years, Mrs. Davis having recently returned from Dakota, her former home.

Among the number who took part in the Scottish Rite exercises at Indianapolis yesterday were Frank F. Fee, James H. Leonard, D. L. Harding, Geo. W. Pixley, A. G. Barnett and C S Hilton. SENATOR CULLOM, of Illinois, says he is still a candidate for the republican nomination for president.

THE Behring sea question is assuming a warlike character. If it ever came to a fight, wouldn't we wallop the British lion in fine style?

Congressman Holman, of this state, is now being boomed for the presidency. If an Indiana man is chosen as a democratic candidate, it should be Ex-Governor Gray.

HON. JOHN G. SHANKLIN, candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, addressed the Shield's club at Indianapolis last night. He declared for Cleveland for president and said the democrats of Indiana ought to see that he was nominated.

ORTH H. STEIN, a well known newspaper man, of Lafayette, has accepted a position as principal artist on an illustrated literary and satiral paper at Savannah, Georgia, and is now located in that city. For several months past he has resided at Atlanta, where he was in the service of the local press as artist and writer.

IN AN interview published at Cleveland, Col. A. L. Conger, member of the republican national committee for Ohio, states as his opinion, formed by his recent trip to California, that President Harrison ought to be renominated and that such action is inevitable. Colonel Conger's declaration for Harrison is regarded there as notable, as he has been bitter against the administration.

THE Standard oil trust, the most powerful manufacturing monopoly in this country and the originator of the trust idea, has nominally passed out of existence. The half dozen multi-millionaires who have so ably built up this great combination of corporations have at last had to bow to the laws which declare trusts to be opposed to public policy. It is true that the dissolution of the trust is not much more than a matter of name and that the men who formed it will continue to manage as one the great corporations which composed the trust. And yet it is a great point in favor of justice and fair play that the great Standard trust, which so long defied public opinion, has had to concede something at last.

The democratic party of this county, at their coming convention, should place in nomination for county commissioner a man of practical business ability. The office is one of the utmost importance. The board of commissioners regulate the business affairs of the county and determine the amount of the tax levy. The matter of the expenditure of the county's money is wholly in their hands. The board should then be composed of our very best business men. To put incompetent and impracticable men on the commissioners' board is worse than to put such men into any of the other offices, for the unfitness for the positions would soon show itself in unwise and extravagant expenditures. Let our candidate for county commissioner be a man of good judgment, practical ideas and business abilities.

THE suit to set aside the will of the late Senator Joseph E. McDonald has brought out an interesting story. The suit is practically based on a remarkable story of a dream. The charge is that the will, as offered for probate, was forged by Mrs. McDonald. Soon after the death of the ex-senator Miss Anna Ellis, of Washington, D. C., a special friend of Joseph E. McDonald, jr., and Mrs. Jessie McDonald, grandchildren of Senator McDonald, had a strange dream. Miss Ellis, in her dream, thought she was in a room where were Mrs. Joseph E. McDonald, wife of the senator, and a young man who was unknown to the dreamer, though his features were distinct and made a deep impression on her mind and memory. Certain business matters seemed to be under discussion. For some unknown reason the dream profoundly stirred Miss Ellis and when she came to Indianapolis a short time afterward she related it to her friends and graphically described the man whom she saw in the vision but did not know. Her description was so particular and circumstantial that it reminded some one of a young man who had been a clerk in the law office of McDonald, Butler & Snow, but who later became insane and was taken to the insane hospital, where he now is. Miss Ellis immediately went to the hospital and asked to see the young man whose name is Arthur Hutchins. He was brought in and recognized as the man of the dream. The records show that Hutchins went insane a few weeks after the will offered for probate was made.

SENATOR JOHN M. PALMER, of Illinois, announces that he is in no sense a candidate for the presidency, and further that he wants the country to understand that he is personally for Cleveland and is anxious to see him nominated. He says the logic of the situation points to Cleveland, that he is the strongest, biggest and best man in the democratic party, that he presents an issue that no other man could, and to fail to nominate him would plunge the party into confusion. The senator believes that Cleveland's position has been unchanged from the first, that he would take the nomination if called but would not scramble for it. He believes that Cleveland will be nominated and elected. And to discourage any further use of his own name in connection with the nomination Senator Palmer calls attention to the fact that his retirement from the United States senate would imperil a democratic seat in that body.

THE Democratic Railroad club, at its meeting last night at the superior court room, was addressed by Mr. S. M. Foster. The tariff question was his theme, which he handled in a plain, practical and magnificent manner. He gave a history of the tariff, tracing it from the time it was levied, in the early centuries, by nations as a tribute upon all foreign merchandise vessels entering their ports, down to the present time. He then discussed its effects upon the interests of the people of this nation today. The protective tariff of the republican party, he said, was a robber of the people's rights framed to benefit the few at the expense of the many. His speech was a masterly discussion of the tariff question and held the close attention of those present. At the conclusion of Mr. Foster's address, short speeches were made by Hon. P. S. O'Rourke, W. E. McDermutt and Hon. Robert Lowry. Will Tigar, the president of the Railroad club, presided at the meeting.

MRS. G. E. BURSLEY

Talks About the Needs of the Relief Union.

At the public meeting of the Relief union held in the Y. M. C. A. hall on the evening of March 11th a paper was read by Mrs. G. E. Bursley, suggesting some of the present needs of that society. The following extracts are made from that paper, which we commend to the notice of our readers:

"I have been asked to briefly state the origin of the Relief union, its aims and methods of work, and its present needs. * * * * Of our methods, I can only say, we have tried to adapt them to the needs of our poor, and to keep in touch with the spirit of progression that characterizes the charity work of the present day. Our organization was formed on a plan broad enough to cover nearly every form of benevolent work.

"The Relief Union is an out-growth of the Ladies Aid Society, a charitable association that began its work in 1878. Feeling the need of a legal organization, in the spring of 1882 we became an incorporated body under the name of the Fort Wayne Relief Union.

"Having no office of our own and much of the time no settled place of meeting, the work being entirely voluntary, each member constituting investigating and supply committee, the results were anything but satisfactory. In the late winter of 1886 our president, Mrs. A. L. Bond, pressed the necessity of having a paid assistant to take charge of an office, to look after applicants for aid and to give such assistance as seemed necessary. This was a long step in advance of any work we had previously done. Miss Eckels, who already had charge of the industrial school, was engaged as superintendent, an office was opened for two hours each day, and tickets were distributed among our members and friends to be given by them to persons asking for help, whose condition they themselves had not time to investigate. The subject of these tickets is one we wish were more clearly understood. Their general and judicious use will help more largely to do away with street begging, and to the relief of the really deserving, than any one method we have so far adopted. * * * This work has been continued to the present time. As can readily be seen, it is a work of great magnitude, too much for one person alone to do as thoroughly and conscientiously as Miss Eckels tries to do it. We hope at no distant date it may be possible for her to have a paid assistant. That is one of our present needs. * * * * *

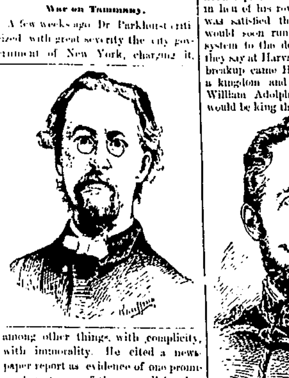

I have incidently mentioned the industrial school. This is a school held for two hours every Saturday afternoon where young girls who have no opportunity for home training in the use of the needle, are taught knitting, crocheting, sewing, mending, etc. There has been no regular place for holding this school, the room sometimes being changed once or twice in a season. This is demoralizing to the children and detrimental to the success of the school, but it seemed unavoidable. Many of the rooms are poorly lighted and ventilated and none of them arranged to give the best results to the teaching. We want a building of our own, where the sewing school and other classes for children can be held. We want a room where we can meet the mothers of our pupils and with them devise ways and means of training their children to become good citizens. Time and money are better spent in prevention than reformation of evil. To have a school building is another of our present needs.

Finally we want to increase our membership. A society of this nature should number its members by the hundred, while after ten years we are less than one hundred. Payment of $1.00 a year and signing the constitution are the requirements. The latter clause has made it a little difficult to enlarge our number. It is proposed to so far amend the constitution as to have the payment of $1.00 annually and the entering the name upon the books of the society by the secretary of those making such payment, constitute membership. We want to emphasize the fact that this is not the Ladies Relief union but the Fort Wayne Relief union and there is no reason why gentlemen should not join us in membership. We already have an advisory board chosen from them. We cordially invite every one interested in the work we are trying to do to unite with us and let the Relief union become the central point of the charitable work of all the benevolent men and women of Fort Wayne."

THE FIGHTING PARSON.

Rev. Dr. Charles Parkhurst and His War on Tammany.

A few weeks ago Dr. Parkhurst criticized with great severity the city government of New York, charging it, among other things, with complicity, with immorality. He cited a newspaper report as evidence of one prominent instance of this complicity, but did not claim for the newspaper report that it was legal evidence. Notwithstanding this, the grand jury made a presentment censuring him for his criticism. He now points out the weakness of the presentment, and preached a sermon in which he claims that he has legal evidence of the truthfulness of his present statements. Speaking to Tammany he says: "For four weeks you have been wincing under the sting of a general indictment and have been calling for particulars. This morning I have given you particulars, 254,284 of them. Now, what are you going to do with them?"

Dr. Parkhurst, who thus "bucks the tiger," was born in Massachusetts. He is a graduate of Amherst college and a great scholar. In his early manhood he was professor of Greek in Williston seminary. He read for the ministry in Germany. His church in Madison Square, New York, is attended by many prominent men, and is one of the leading places of worship of the Presbyterian denomination. Dr. Parkhurst is fearless, indefatigable and thorough in his campaign against Tammany.

ABOUT TWO DUKES.

ONE IS PROMOTED AND THE OTHER GETS UP AN UNPLEASANTNESS.

Hanover Is Now Part of Prussia and the Duke of Cumberland Waives His Claims After a Protest—The Scotch Duke of Argyle's Advancement.

The duke business, as Artemus Ward would say, has been badly overdone for some years, which was but a natural result of the rapid changes in the social structure. Dukes and lords ceased to have the old feudal privileges and to be the natural leaders and hereditary magistrates of their little domains before they had learned how to be industrial enterprisers, scholars, inventors and otherwise leaders in the modern system. But they have made the turn successfully, and many of them are now eminent in art, science, literature and manufactures.

And it is this which made the recent performance of the Duke of Cumberland so startling. He first declared that he was still king of Hanover and would not accept the Guelph fund, so called, in lieu of his royal rights, because he was satisfied that Emperor William would soon run the whole Germanic system to the demnition bowwows, as they say at Harvard, and that when the breakup came Hanover would again be a kingdom and he, Ernest Augustus William Adolphus George Frederick, would be king thereof as his father was.

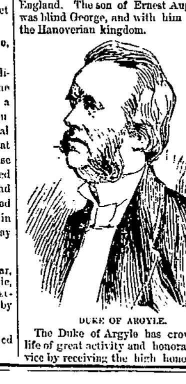

DUKE OF CUMBERLAND.

After worrying the diplomats very much he changed his mind and consented to take the money and agree never to try to be king. When Hanover was annexed to Prussia, in 1866, King George was bulldozed into accepting a settlement, but when Bismarck unfolded his entire policy King George refused the settlement. Then Prussia, that is to say Bismarck, took all his property and revenues and fought him with the income. The imperial landtag refused to sanction this robbery and something had to be done.

The income has been devoted to subsidizing journals and public men to create an opinion. Finally the present Emperor William consented to revoke the sequestration, and the Duke of Cumberland now agrees to accept the 60,000,000 silver marks, present valuation of his father's claim, and surrenders all claims to the crown of Hanover.

The origin of an English duke's right to a German throne is peculiar. James I of England had a daughter who married a German prince, and her daughter, Sophia, married the elector of Hanover; so when Queen Anne died childless, Aug. 1, 1714, and there were no heirs in the English branch, the right to the crown belonged to the oldest son of that Sophia, and so he became George I of England. This made an awkward union between the electorate and the kingdom, and involved England in various wars.

The crown of Hanover, however, was limited to the male line; so when Victoria became queen her uncle Ernest Augustus became king of Hanover, the English people rejoicing greatly at the separation and even more at the absence of the hated Ernest, though he and his heirs remained dukes of Cumberland in England. The son of Ernest Augustus was blind George, and with him ended the Hanoverian kingdom.

DUKE OF ARGYLE.

The Duke of Argyle has crowned a life of great activity and honorable service by receiving the high honor of being made a duke of the United Kingdom, which raises the famous house of MacCallum More to the highest dignity under the crown. Hitherto, though duke in Scotland, he was only Baron Sundridge and Hamilton in England. He was born in 1823, is father of the queen's son-in-law, the Marquis of Lorne, and is famous as a scholar and writer in defense of orthodoxy, his most famous work being "The Reign of Law." He has held many high positions in government and the universities, and is in politics a Liberal.

A Woman Embalmer.

Mrs. Susan Marsh, of Chicago, claims that she was the first woman in America to become an undertaker. If her claim of so much be true she is, in all probability, also the first woman in the world to take up such a business. Mrs. Marsh was not only a director of funerals, but she embalmed bodies, and has recently announced that she actually took pleasure in such gruesome work.

MRS. SUSAN MARSH.

Her husband was an undertaker, and when he died the widow attempted to carry on the business herself. She says that at first great prejudice existed against her and it took a long while to overcome it. This she finally did and succeeded in getting a very prosperous business, which she kept up for thirteen years and then retired on account of ill health. She says that in her opinion there is no more appropriate work in which a woman can engage than undertaking, but she recommends that a woman shall not take up the business alone, but with another woman for a partner.

When you buy your spring medicine you should get the best, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It thoroughly purifies the blood.

NERVOUS AND FAINT.

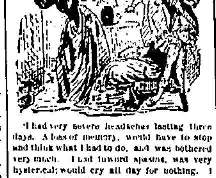

Are Women Slaves to Their Nerves?

Women are great sufferers from nervousness, weakness, nervous prostration and debility. Thousands droop and languish in the close confined shops, factories or offices, and hundreds of thousands wear out their nerve power in household cares and work. This is especially true during the spring months, when spring debility makes them much worse.

It is a fact also that no disease in the world has ever left such a train of invalids in its track—invalids who suffer from both nervous and physical weakness and prostration.

What wonder that they become worn out in nerve and vital power, and have great weakness, exhaustion, pain in back and limbs, malaria and the distressing female complaints which are always caused by loss of vital strength.

The great nerve invigorator and female restorative is Dr. Greene's Nervura. No remedy in the world is so sure to bring back the bloom and color to the cheek, the brilliancy to the eyes, the elasticity to the step, the strength and vitality to the unstrung, shattered and worn out nerves. It is the greatest of all uterine tonics and regulators, and cures all female weakness and disease. Use it this spring and get back your strength and vigor. Purely vegetable and harmless. Druggists, $1.

"I had very severe headaches lasting three days. A loss of memory, would have to stop and think what I had to do, and was bothered very much. I had inward spasms, was very hysterical; would cry all day for nothing. I would drop anything out of my hand, and my speech was affected. I took Dr. Greene's Nervura, and it has been the greatest blessing to me and my husband, who, before, never knew if he should find me alive when he returned each night. I feel so thankful for what Dr. Greene's Nervura has done for me that I should need a whole page praising it.

PROTECT OUR BREAD.

The machinery of the law has not been put to work too speedily against the fraudulent use of ammonia and alum in Baking Powders. Both health and the pocket of the people are demanding protection. The legislatures of New York, Illinois and Minnesota have taken this matter of adulteration up, and especially that of Baking Powders. It will be in the interest of public health when their sale is made a misdemeanor in every State in the UNION, and the penalties of the law are rigidly enforced. There is no article of human food more wickedly adulterated than that of Baking Powder.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the only pure cream of tartar powder having a general sale that is free from ammonia, alum or taint of any kind of impurity. It makes the sweetest and lightest bread, biscuit and cake that are perfectly digestible whether hot or cold. It costs more to manufacture Dr. Price's than any other baking powder. It is superior to every other known and the standard for forty years.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

Death Comes to the Relief of Poor William Hassinger—Local and Personal Matters.

Conductor William Hassinger, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, died of blood poison at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Our readers will remember that the deceased, while out on his run, had the misfortune to have his right leg crushed, from the knee down, at Huntington about two weeks ago. He was brought to this city and taken to his home on St. Martin street, where the best medical skill in the city endeavored to save the limb, but mortification set in and last week it was found necessary to amputate the limb at the knee, which operation was successfully performed and it was thought that the patient would recover. But blood poison set in, which culminated in death as stated above.

William Harsinger was one of the most popular conductors on the Grand Rapids road, loved alike by official and employe. Some time ago he was promoted to a passenger run, but for some reason wished to be returned to the freight service. The deceased leaves a wife and two daughters, aged respectively fifteen and seventeen years, and a widowed mother. His father died last Saturday and was buried Monday morning. William was not apprised of his father's death. The remains will be taken to Wolcottville on No. 3, which leaves the south depot at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Hassinger is prostrated by grief and will probably be unable to go to Wolcottville. Mrs. Hassinger, sr., is also quite ill. The deceased held a life policy in the Pacific Mutual company for $1,400.

Many of the trainmen and friends of the deceased will attend the funeral Saturday.

Fred May, an engineer on the Pan Handle road, who has been the guest of W. D. Hartnett, left for Columbus, Ohio, yesterday.

The Old Colony railroad company has asked the Massachusetts legislature for permission to use electricity instead of steam as motive power.

Fred Miller, a moulder, has accepted a position in the skein department at the Bass works. Formerly Mr. Miller was employed at the Fort Wayne Iron works.

J. C. Jacobs, superintendent of the Amboy division of the Illinois Central, has tendered his resignation to take effect April 1, the fifty-fifth anniversary of his entering the railroad service.

Last week the Bass works received seventeen orders for boilers and in order to make them as soon as possible the boiler department will be run until 10 o'clock each night for a few weeks.

Adam Miller, a passenger on a westbound Pittsburg train yesterday afternoon, was robbed of his pocketbook containing $18 in cash and four railroad tickets valued at $60. He described a man whom he suspicioned, but a search of the train revealed the fact that if such a person had been aboard he had jumped off the cars at some of the railway crossings before this city was reached.

William Davis, a switchman in the east yards of the Pennsylvania company, got his right hand caught between the drawbars while making a coupling yesterday afternoon. The member was so badly mashed that amputation of the thumb and index finger was necessary. Dr. George C. Stemen performed the operation. Mr. Davis lives in Plymouth and had been employed in the east yards only a month or two.

Mention was made, a short time ago, that sixteen southern roads had boycotted the Nickel Plate line for cutting rates on cotton out of Memphis. John C. Rogers, the Nickel Plate agent, who cut the rate, died at Memphis, on Sunday last, of brain fever, the mental strain in connection with this trouble causing, it is thought, his death. Mr. Rogers was an officer of the Chickasaw guards and was popular in all circles which he entered.

Chief Rainor, of the inspection bureau of the Central Traffic association, and of the joint rate committee of the eastern and western roads, has issued a statement showing the workings of the department during 1891. His figures indicate that the correction of weights at points in the Central Traffic association territory secured to the roads a net gain in revenue of $426,203, while at points in the territory of the joint rate committee the net gain was $1,121,498.

Imitators and Impostors.

The unequalled success of ALLCOCK'S PORUS PLASTERS as an external remedy has induced unscrupulous parties to offer imitations, which they endeavor to sell on the reputation of ALLCOCK'S. It is an absurdity to speak of them in the same category as the genuine porus plaster. Their pretensions are unfounded, their vaunted merit unsupported by facts, their alleged superiority to or equality with ALLCOCK'S a false pretense.

The ablest medical practitioners and chemists and thousands of grateful patients unite in declaring ALLCOCK'S PORUS PLASTERS the best external remedy ever produced.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

Ventilation,

not the politicians' sort, but the fresh air you need. Health and comfort often suffer for this kind of ventilation. Never sleep in a poorly ventilated room. You'll wake up unrefreshed, out of sorts, and bilious. Perhaps you can't improve the ventilation, but you can take Simmons Liver Regulator for that torpid liver, to keep it active against the ill effects of a close atmosphere which causes that languid feeling.
